FOREWORD

This is the twenty-first annual report of the Ontario Ministry of Labour on collective bargaining agreement expirations. It describes the extent of collective bargaining activity in Ontario for renewal of agreements scheduled to expire in 1988.

The data in this report are derived from information available in the Ministry's Collective Agreements Library as of December 15, 1987, and identify all 1988 bargaining situations known to the Ministry at that date. They do not include situations that will result from recent and future certifications by the Ontario Labour Relations Board, and new agreements that were not yet signed when the report was completed.

The report consists of five tables. Part A of Table 1 shows the total number of all agreements expiring by industry and month of expiration; and Part B shows the number of employees who will be affected. Table 2 gives a distribution of the total expirations by industry and size of bargaining unit. Table 3 shows the total number of all agreements expiring and employees involved by union and month of expiration. Table 4 lists only those agreements covering 200 or more employees by month of expiration; and Table 5 lists them by industry.

Appendix I lists the major agreements (those covering 1,000 or more employees) expiring in 1988. Appendix II explains the SIC (Standard Industrial Classification), union and bargaining unit codes used in Tables 4 and 5.

The report was prepared in the Research and Analysis Unit, Industrial Relations Division, Ontario Ministry of Labour.

ONTARIO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT EXPIRATIONS, 1988

Introduction

Collective bargaining activity in 1988 will be heavier than in the past year. About 3,455 agreements, covering nearly 540,000 employees, are scheduled to expire during the year, compared with 2,945 agreements covering 526,800 employees in 1987. (See Tables 1A and 1B.)

The upcoming negotiations will affect 39 percent of the 1,383,400 employees covered by 9,160 agreements on file in the Ministry of Labour's Collective Agreements Library as of December 15, 1987 and will involve 38 percent of the total file of agreements.

Principal industry sectors in which contract talks will take place include mining and primary metals, meat processing, farm equipment, automobile parts, electrical products, petroleum and chemical products, construction, retail trade, education, health and welfare and municipal governments. The major bargaining situations are listed in Appendix I.

Economic Setting

According to the latest provincial treasury forecast, in 1988 the provincial economy is estimated to grow in real terms by 2.8 percent and inflation is expected to average 4.7 percent.

Plant capacity utilization for Canada, which had fallen from 80 percent in the first quarter of 1986 to 78.4 percent in the fourth quarter, moved up to 80 percent again in the second quarter of 1987. Inflation, which rose from 3.9 percent in January 1987 to a peak of 4.8 percent in June, fell gradually to 4.2 percent by November. Interest rates remained fairly steady throughout 1987, and the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for Ontario stood at 5.9% in November 1987.

Negotiated wage settlements in major Ontario agreements ratified in the third quarter of 1987 averaged 3.8 percent, down from 4.0 percent in the second quarter and 4.3 percent in the first quarter. With the introduction of pay equity legislation in 1987, wage demands in 1988 can be expected to include adjustments for pay equity.

In addition to wages, union negotiators will likely focus on job protection, contracting-out and out-sourcing restrictions, training and retraining, workplace health and safety, seniority rights, income support for laid off workers and the enhancement of early retirement and pension plans. The 1987 breakthrough on indexed pensions in the auto, paper, and air transport sectors may be a factor in 1988 bargaining in other industries.

Employers contained labour costs through a variety of measures in collective bargaining settlements in 1987, including one-time bonuses in lieu of direct wage increases, two-tier pay and benefits systems as well as greater flexibility in workforce deployment through the compression of job classifications and cross-trade utilization. As in 1986 and 1987, the trend towards longer term agreements is likely to continue into 1988.

Monthly Activity

March and December have the largest number of contract expirations in 1988, with more than 600 agreements scheduled for renewal in each of these months. In terms of employees, April is the heaviest month, with almost 131,600 employees covered by 337 agreements including about 101,000 construction workers under 71 agreements. Other active months are June and August, in which a combined total of over 111,000 employees will be affected by bargaining. These five months together account for 66 percent of the total expirations and 70 percent of the total number of employees who will be involved in contract bargaining in 1988.

Industry Activity

Non-manufacturing sector bargaining, accounting for 66 percent of all expiring agreements and 77 percent of the employees covered, will continue to predominate in 1988. The major negotiations will take place in health and welfare services, education, retail trade, mining, construction and municipal administration. These six industries alone comprise 68 percent of the 2,280 non-manufacturing expirations and 79 percent of the 413,400 employees involved.

In the manufacturing sector, key industries in which bargaining will occur include meat processing, primary metals, farm equipment, automobile parts, and electrical products. These five major groups account for almost one half of the total 126,300 unionized employees covered by agreements in the manufacturing sector opening up for renewal next year.
